ARE WE 'BUYING' THE WORLD'S ILL WILL?

That famous 'Fair-Dealer' Harry Truman is at it again. The present administration at Washington doesn't seem to be able to spend enough money to suit him. And here we have been thinking that they are doing, if anything, too good a job along that line.

Addressing the Overseas Press Club in New York the other night, Mr. Truman told the scribes that what we need in this country is a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid are tree of the property of the comment of the scribes that what we need in this country is a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid are tree of the up there at Washington, "is the one inherited from us." And in his thinking, it has been badly administered — has even been allowed to "wither away in some important respects."

We sort o' shudder to think of what the former President might mean by a "bold program." As compared with what is now being given away in billions of the taxpayers' money, America might find herself shirtless, not to mention the trimmings that have already been plucked from our once full-dress garb.

Meanwhile some of our friends in Europe have become mad enough at us to say frankly that we have been insulting them with our generosity. "Each time they give a giff," said French Premier Guy Mollet in an interview recently, they (Americans) have found the means and the same of an old Latin proverb. "The way of giving is better than the gift." They are willing to take our money as a gift, but not our advice.

Mr. Truman wants the Eisenhower administration to stop "flatering" their predecessors by imitating them. He appears to want all previous efforts in the give-away game outdone. Thus he would have the present administration to stop "flatering" their predecessors by imitating them. He appears to want all previous efforts in the give-away game to the proposed and the manner of an old Latin proverb. "The way of giving is better than the gift." They are willing to take our money as a gift, but not our advice.

the Liberal Party still payed a major role in domestic politics.

The Democrats and Republicans in this country could go on as the only two major parties for a hundred years. Or there could be a third party, which would take its membership from both. Eventually, there might be a Labor Party in this country, and the union of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations last December could be a step in this direction. There is a good chance a third force will come into play in this year's election, and if that happens, it will probably be a States' Rights movement. There is also a good chance that a third party may evolve out of the two-party system, and if that happens, it may occur in the next ten years. — Breckinridge News.
